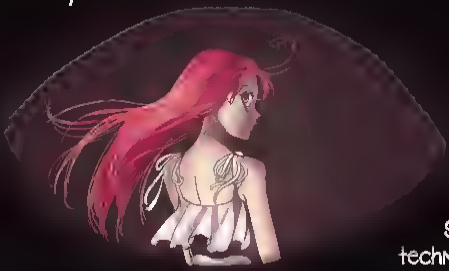
Myriad creatures hiding in the shadows, entities unseen by the human eyes.



So technically...

You're never really alone

So don't be afraid.

Snailords

Termites feasting on your wooden bed frames.

And kids, this is how I got fired from my lost boby sitting job. Lol
Being alone isn't as petrifying as not being alone when you're supposed to be alone.

Danke, dass du Snailogy liest!

However...
I realized that your lashes alone can house a bunch of microscopic Demodex mites
Baby spiders hatching in crevices along your walls

LINE Webtoon

When I was little

I used to be afraid of being alone.

Don't be Afraid